

Red hatters and screen saver

Author : Keith Kridler, Texas

Categories : General

Date : March 13, 2008

Daffnet.org

For people interested in growing, showing, or hybridizing daffodils.

<https://daffnet.org>

Thought you all might need a new screen saver shot. I have a lighter exposure and a few more shots if someone wants some off list later. We picked blooms for three different groups today. One here at my house, one for a lady giving a daffodil program for our library group and then tonight for a Master Gardener group. Things are really popping here in East Texas now that it is back in the 70°F range again. Keith Kridler