After a couple of days of being extremely busy, I've finally been able to edit some photos and can now start sending them out. I won't be able to send everything tonight since it's late and we leave in the morning to go back home (Yuk!). The show was great with about 2800 some flowers and 95 some exhibitors. The nicest thing is that some of the winning exhibitors were names that I've not known before. It's always good to see new people winning trophies in the national show. So, the Gold ribbon was awarded to Entente taken from one of the larger exhibits, I think the Bozie. The exhibitor was Karen Cogar. Tom
