

Late, late flower

Author : Harold Koopowitz, California

Categories : Daffodil Types, Standards

Date : June 4, 2015

It is June 4th, 2015 and there is still a daffodil in the garden. It is one of the Haven's jonquils that just keeps send up spike after spike. Wish I knew which cultivar it is. This is the latest we have had flowers without having to force or retard them. At this time of the year I am prepared to forgive that it is lacking a little (actually a lot) in substance.

A June jonquil

Anyone still have daffs in their gardens. I suppose people in Minnesota or Canada might?

Daffnet.org

For people interested in growing, showing, or hybridizing daffodils.

<https://daffnet.org>
