

5W-W Unknown

Author : Clay Higgins, North Carolina

Categories : American Daffodil Society, Breeding, Daffodil Enthusiasts, General, Hybridizing

Date : March 30, 2017

Hi,

I found this in bloom in my seedling beds. It's a first time bloom. I have been using an NTT (N. triandrus Triandrus), and its Cousin another NTT that is white that was sold to me as NTT Var albius (white). This one opens with a light yellow cup and immediately fades white. Before I get excited about it, I'd like to know if it is one that is already in commerce. Here's the picture.

Any guess or is it one of my seedling. I have a number assigned to it, but don't trust the number.

Clay