Hello Daffodil Friends,

I am extremely relieved to tell you that the June Journal has finally gone to print. It should be in your mail boxes around the end of next week. It is time (and a little bit past time) to start working on the September issue. I know its been confusing because the June issue wasn't out, but we are trying to start working on the September issue immediately. Please start getting your columns, articles, and reports for September to me as soon as possible.

Thank you all for your patience,

Jolene Laughlin

P.S. The picture has nothing to do with this post. It's just to snag your attention! ;-)
