

First bloom of 2019

Author : Mary Lou Gripshover, Ohio

Categories : Daffodil Types, Growing Daffodils, Miniatures, Pots, Species

Date : January 10, 2019

In typical Ohio weather style, we went from 63 degrees two days ago to 28 degrees this morning. I grow a few daffodils in pots in the garage, under lights--the kind that don't survive my Ohio winter weather. Two days ago, the first bloom opened, with a second bud to come. I foolishly left them outside with wind gusts of 40-50mph, and the second bud looks dry. But I'm enjoying this little miniature, N. cantabricus, a species from Spain.

