

Narcissus x tuckeri and Narcissus vilchezii

Author : Rafael Diez, Spain

Categories : Daffodil Types, Species

Date : December 19, 2019

This is a very beautiful cross between N. blancoi and N. fernandesii. There are several places with both parents and hybrids but there are just two places known, where the hybrid has become a little bit independent and one of the parents (N. blancoi) has completely disappeared and there are very few left N. fernandesii. It is a really endangered species, the first place known is transformed very quickly by farmers.

