How to Order:

In an email or on a sheet of paper, please list what you would like to purchase, by lot.
E.g. “1” lot of Barrett Browning means you’re ordering five bulbs; 1 lot of Stilton is one bulb.
Please then email or mail that list to us with your full name, address, email address, and, if you wish, your phone number. (None of your information will go anywhere beyond use for your orders with us).

All our stocks are limited. Sales will be handled on a first come/first serve basis.

You need not (but may if you like) calculate the price; we will prepare and invoice to return to you for approval and payment. The invoice will include shipping (via U.S.P.S.) at the rates of $6.00 (up to and including 12 bulbs); $8.00 for 12-20 bulbs; $11.00 for 21-35 bulbs. Orders larger than 35 bulbs we’ll calculate and quote the rate to you.

Once your order is received, an invoice will be returned to you. Please advise right away if there are any errors. At this point we will start preparing your bulbs for shipment. Please pay by check or money order. We do not accept paypal or other payment systems, but can advise of wire transfer information if desired. Payment should be to J. D. McFarland, the farm is not incorporated.

Sales are limited to the United States.

We will try to custom dig for specially requested bulbs you may desire. Please contact us during April so they can be marked for digging that season. Accurately finding the right bulb without it marked during the season is nearly impossible.

About our bulbs:

The photos in this flyer are of flowers here at the farm. What you get will be from that same stock source.

For more information on these or any daffodil cultivar, please check on <https://daffseek.org/> – an amazing resource for daffodils. Please also consider joining the American Daffodil Society. A membership is a true bargain for what all is provided, and a youth membership is a great way to encourage a youngster's interest in daffodils.

All bulbs are grown on our farm in Central Ohio, nothing is imported or from other sources. All have been grown and allowed to divide naturally for at least several years in hardiness zone 6b, very close to a patch of 5a. (Elevation around 1150 feet). They have survived temperatures a low as -10° F. We “field grow” in former crop fields and pastures with no chemicals or fertilizers added beyond what nature provides. These are tough bulbs which should excel in pampered or rough conditions.

Anything we sell is believed to be true to name – the real named cultivar you are purchasing, and research is done to make sure of it. Our original source of the flower will be shared on request.

Bulb sizes vary with age and type. We will endeavor to give you as large bulbs as possible. Don't look for them to be giants since we don't use artificial fertilizers to pump them up for shelf appeal. If stocks allow, you'll also get free extras of small bulbs of the same cultivar, which should bloom in a year or two.

About our farm:

Although flower and bulb sales started much later, our farm dates to 1986 and “Beinn Sloidh” is Scottish Gaelic for “Gathering Place Hill”. Growing daffodils for local charity events dates to about 1990 and flower sales to about 2007. For the past four years we've been shifting to bulb sales as the main emphasis of our operation.
